Biography

I represent the Northern Region out of Duluth, Minnesota. My work is managing Training and Technical Assistance for the Lake Superior Initiative through the United Way of Greater Duluth and I am also the lead consultant for Horizon Nonprofit Solutions. In both aspects of my work, my role is to help nonprofit agencies build capacity and better serve the community.

Service-Learning interests me because it goes so far beyond the daily grind of those infamous 3 R's and actually gets students excited about their learning. It instills a paradigm of civic engagement and creates amazing partnerships between schools and the community. Making Service-Learning a reality for our region takes baby steps and constant education of teachers, decision-makers, and the community. I hope that our work grows the number of people who are speaking positively about Service-Learning, to the point where parents come to expect Service-Learning as part of education in our area.
